

LUNKER UGLY FROG

The Lunker Ugly Frog is a Big Bass Bait although the smaller Bass will attack it as well. The Lunker Ugly Frog gives a very realistic appeal to a hungry Bass. The methods we recommend for fishing the Lunker Ugly Frog gives the Bass an impression of an easy meal. Big Bass like Big easy meals so the Lunker Ugly Frog is a Big easy meal. The key to this bait is to fish it slowly with Big action. Make as much commotion as you can when you have it on the grass bed or mat. When you get to the edge, slowly pull it off and let the legs sink down so the frog is almost standing up. A natural frog resting in water is head up legs dangling down, usually just the nose and eyes are out of water. By inserting a weight into the legs below the knees toward the rear of the frog, the frog will rest in a more proper and realistic position, insert  $\frac{3}{4}$  of the way in as you may have to trim a  $\frac{1}{4}$  off to obtain correct resting position. We recommend using Lunker City insert weights. Giving it slight movement in the resting position will also get explosive strikes. If the frog lands upside down just pop the rod and it will right itself. We also recommend keeping your rod out in front of you to keep the frog moving in a straight line when you are slowly working it back to the boat, it is also in a great position to deliver an effective hook set. Have fun with the frog and when you need that kicker fish or just want to catch a lunker of a lifetime... Go Ugly... the Lunker Ugly Frog. There are pictures and diagrams for rigging instructions.

Step 1

Step 2

2

Step 3

Properly Rigged Frog

Resting Position

FISHING INSTRUCTIONS

We are positive that this bait will help you catch more bass and ultimately the lunker of a lifetime. We have extensive research and design into this quality bass fishing bait. There are several ways to fish this bait and we are sure some of you will find even more ways to be successful with it. We are going to give you 2 recommended methods derived from our lengthy testing period.

1. The first way is to use a Lunker City Specialty Insert Weight, break off  $\frac{3}{4}$ 's, and insert a  $\frac{3}{4}$  piece into each of the frog's knees and slide towards the feet. The weights will cause the frog to sit upright in the water. Fish the frog slow by pulling it up on top of the water and frequently stopping it allowing the legs to sink back down. This method works well when pulling frog off the edge of a grassbed.
2. The second way is to simply pop the frog in on a slow to medium retrieve with no weights so the entire frog stays on top of the water (pause inbetween pops).

We suggest using an Owner 7/0 Oversize Worm Hook (#5110-171) or 11/0 Oversize Worm Hook (#5110-211). When using these hooks, run the hook thru the bottom of the belly and push thru the nose, turn hook 180° and slightly place the barb into the "tail". The "tail" will help ensure your frog remains weedless in all conditions.

